

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

“I could design my own problems that would use terminology that I use in class”

Paul Chaney

- Financial Accounting Professor for 35 years (Intro to Accounting and Intermediate financial accounting and M&A)
- Using ExPrep for 2-3 years.
- When transition to virtual learning occurred due to COVID, he said it was not a problem because the program is already online and no extra time taken to switch. Didn't struggle at all from COVID impact on universities.

Problem

Problem was assigning homework and grading on timely basis while teaching 200+ students. Hired TA's to assist with grading and experienced inconsistency with grading.

Solution

Been looking for different online homework systems. With ExPrep, he can design custom assignments with terminology he uses in class. Loves the automated grading and immediate feedback. Also enjoys that he can see what students submitted and see where students made mistakes.

Result

You can teach students how to learn accounting with different approaches. Additionally, students don't need to come see him during office hours for help as often.

| Watch this Case Study

www.excelpreparation.com

Follow us on social media   